

Steamer Odell Blaze Strikes Still Hold Check Accidental, So Inquiry On Nation's Production, By Officials Discloses More Than 27,000 Idle

Report Fire Had Been Caused by Spontaneous Combustion Which Started Among Oily Rags in a Locker Off Engine Room.

IN WASTE CAN

Theory Was Arrived at By Inspectors and Troopers After Complete Inspection Was Made.

Inspection of the cooling hull of the Hudson River Navigation Line Steamer Benjamin B. Odell, which was destroyed by fire Monday night while tied up at the Rosoff dock off Marlborough, was made yesterday by officials of the navigation company, Hilton F. Rogers, hull inspector, and Nathan H. Dunn, inspector of boilers for the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, together with Inspector Ernest Maynard of the State Police Criminal Investigation Bureau and Sergeant John Lockhart of the Highland outpost and it was determined that the fire had been caused by spontaneous combustion which started among oily rags in a locker off the engine room.

The Odell, owned by "Subway Sam" Rosoff, was first believed to have been set afire by enemies of the New York subway contractor who has been prominently mentioned in the news concerning the killing of Norman Redwood, New York "sandhog" chief who was shot by gunmen as he sat in his car in front of his garage at Tenth St. N. Y. Labor trouble in New York on a subway job being done by Rosoff is claimed to have been responsible for Redwood's death. Samuel Rosoff is wanted for questioning in New Jersey. The fire aboard the boat coming as it did just at the time of the labor troubles was at first thought to have been of incendiary origin.

This theory of incendiary origin was not shared by Rosoff's son, who visited the boat after the fire. He maintained that there was no evidence of the boat having been set afire.

Inspectors and officials of the line have been waiting for the hull to cool off sufficiently for them to enter the wreck and determine if possible just where the fire did start. Wednesday the hull of the boat had cooled sufficiently for the inspectors and troopers to make their first inspection below decks.

This morning it was stated that the troopers and the inspectors were satisfied that the fire was of spontaneous combustion origin and that it started in a waste can in a closet off the engine room.

Complete Inspection

This theory was arrived at after a very complete inspection. Water poured into the boat by firemen hampered the officials, as well as did the heat which still existed but a sufficient inspection was made to determine that the fire started in a locker which probably contained gasoline or some highly inflammable material, in the room contributed to the intensity of the flames and a quick spreading after the fire had been discovered by John Waltrip, watchman at the Rosoff property at Marlborough.

There was a grating over the place where the fire apparently originated and this permitted the flames to communicate rapidly to the superstructure. There was evidence, according to the troopers, that the fire had originated in the waste can and flames had shot up through the grating above and spread rapidly throughout the boat. The grating through which the flames passed to the upper decks however prevented the debris from falling down into the room where the fire evidently started. Outside the waste can where the flames started there was evidence of where the flames had licked up along the side wall. Outside the burned waste in the can there was little evidence of fire in the locker. Water poured on the fire by the several streams evidently flooded the lower portion of the boat and extinguished the fire in the locker room while the superstructure was being destroyed by the rapidly spreading flames.

The fact that there was no work going on aboard the Odell at the time and no workmen were supposed to be aboard leads the authorities to believe that the fire which originated apparently in the oily waste in the locker room must have started from spontaneous combustion. The watchman recalls no one having been aboard the boat and there was no fire under the boilers.

Accident Former Slave Dies

Scouting for Rural Youths Discussed by Group Wednesday

A conference, sponsored by the Boy Scout organization, was held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the purpose of bringing together members of various rural organizations for discussing plans whereby the youths of the rural sections might be reached and given the benefits which are offered by the Boy Scouts.

The meeting was the first of its kind to be held in this locality and was attended by about 50 persons interested in the youth of rural sections. There were representatives of the Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, supervisors from the county, district superintendents of schools from the outlying sections, rural teachers, pastors, representatives from Granges and other organizations present at the sessions which were held both afternoon and evening.

At the afternoon session there were many problems discussed and the topic of how to reach more of the youths in the rural sections became so interesting that the evening meeting was prolonged far beyond the hour which had been indicated and so deeply did the members present become interested that several who had made plans to attend the men's club dinner at the First Dutch Church and hear General Butler speak, forgot their appointment and remained at the rural youths' conference until its close.

4-H Leaders Present
Representing the 4-H Clubs of this locality were Leon Taylor of Greene county and Maynard Hinkle of Ulster county. William A. Wright, executive secretary of the Ulster-Greene County Council, Boy Scouts of America, represented the Boy Scouts.

Representatives of the 4-H Clubs spoke of the work which that organization is doing for the scouting movement in this country and of the possibilities which the 4-H offered for carrying the movement to the rural sections.

During the discussion it was stated that 24 per cent of the youth of the country resided in the open territory where there was no planned effort made to reach them and where there was no organization which brought the Boy Scout movement to their attention. There was a general discussion on the problem of reaching these youths and various methods for carrying the work to these rural sections were advanced.

The afternoon session was interesting with many ideas and plans being advanced for the broadening of the scout movement into the rural sections where it would reach youths who now do not enjoy scouting privileges.

Conditions Facing Rural America

Conditions facing rural America were talked over and the effect of youth training on both rural and city youth was discussed at length. O. H. Benson, one of the original organizers of 4-H Club work and for many years director of this work for the federal government, gave a very interesting and instructive talk relative to the youth problems of the country today. Mr. Benson for the past 16 years has been the national director for rural scouting.

The years most important in the training of youth Mr. Benson said were from 8 to 19 and he dwelt upon the problem of bringing to the rural

An epidemic of strikes that spread to all sections of the nation held a check on production in scores of industrial and business establishments today.

More than 27,000 workers were made jobless by labor disputes in at least 50 firms.

New strikes broke out or old ones were settled almost hourly. Women as well as men participated, using both the walkout and picket method and the new sit-down technique.

The strikes involved firms manufacturing such diversified products as airplanes, wall paper, rubber tires, stoves, ships, cigars, watches, auto parts, shoes, pens, clothing and jewelry.

The dozen strikes in the Detroit area made that city the "strike capital" of the nation but the number of workers made idle by the disputes was smaller than in some other cities. Six strikes were settled yesterday.

Chrysler to Confer.

Chrysler Automobile Corporation, employing 77,000 workers, agreed to confer with officials of the United Automobile Workers' Union next week to consider the latter's demands, including union recognition.

U. A. W. and General Motors Corporation conferees achieved tentative agreements on seniority rights, speed of production and methods of pay.

Strikers at the Electric Boat Company submarine shipyard in Groton, Conn., formed picket lines after their eviction as sit-downers—first to be evacuated forcibly. State and city police watched as night shift workers left the plant and walked through the lines early today. Neither strike leaders nor company officials would start peace negotiations.

Across the continent at Santa Monica, Calif., sit-down strikers defied for the third day police orders to evacuate the Douglas Aircraft Company plant. Union leaders said union recognition, seniority rights and wage increases were among the issues. The strike made 5,600 jobless and stopped the company's $24,000,000 production program.

Fansett Plant Held

Sit-down strikers continued to hold the Fansett Metallurgical Company plants in North Carolina, but at Decatur, Ill., 47 sit-downers submitted to arrest on contempt of court writs issued after they refused to evacuate the Century Wallpaper plant. Court hearings were ordered for March 16.

A third Illinois strike—at the Illinois Watch Company in Elgin—threw 900 employees out of work. Leaders of the 600 striking employees said they were participating in a "legal picket strike."

Two Bond Issues Studied

Albany, Feb. 25 (AP)—Legislative consideration of proposed bond issues—only one of which can be submitted to the 1937 electorate—summed up today to two measures which opponents contend are unconstitutional. One is Governor Lehman's recommendation for $60,000,000 to finance state construction and improvements, and the other Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat's proposed $100,000,000 for slum clearance.

Shut-School Strike

Akron, Ohio, Feb. 25 (AP)—About 200 pupils in the six upper grades of nearby Moxadore sat at their desks today, their schoolbooks closed, in silent protest against the proposed reorganization of the school to second grade rank by the Ohio Department of Education. The sit-down started yesterday after voters rejected a $75,000 bond issue to build additions to the high school which the "sit-downers" said would keep the school from falling into the second grade.

St. Ann's Hall, Sawkill, Found Near Collapse, Now Being Repaired, Renovated; Drive Started

While attempting to make repairs on St. Ann's Hall at Sawkill it was discovered that the building was in very bad condition and liable to collapse at any time. A hurried meeting was called by the men and women members of the parish and without delay work was started and in a few weeks Sawkill will have not only a safe but a most attractive hall.

Renovating the parish depends almost entirely upon proceeds received from different affairs held in this building, the sale of Ruby and Silver. They have formed groups to solicit donations in order that they may finish the work.

With all this $500 must be raised for material and labor and since the parish cannot meet the obligation the Knights of Columbus of Kingston have donated the use of their hall and St. Ann's Young Men's Club has transformed its four room and place to Kingston. This will take place Friday evening, March 19.

Plans have been formed by the men and women of the parish and it will be a most successful one. They had everyone will be going to help a helping hand and

Borah Has Amendment To Give States Control of Social, Economic Affairs

Proposes Repeal of 14th Amendment and Revision to Limit Due Process Clause to Procedure of Laws.

AFFECTS NEW YORK

Tells Press It Would Make Constitutional New York Minimum Wage Law.

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) introduced today a constitutional amendment to limit the due process clause of the 14th Amendment so as to permit states to handle social and economic problems within their own borders.

Borah's proposed amendment would repeal the 14th Amendment and re-write it to limit the due process clause to procedure, rather than substance, of laws.

He told newspapermen it would make constitutional the New York minimum wage law which the Supreme Court held invalid last year.

Borah tossed his proposal into the legislative hopper without comment on the Senate floor as the battle was raging warmer and warmer over President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the Supreme Court in an effort to broaden the Federal Government's power to handle such problems.

The Idaho senator, a long-time student of constitutional problems and one of the outstanding opponents of President Roosevelt's proposal, said it would have a "decided tendency to limit the activity of the Federal Government" in the field of social and economic legislation.

"These problems of today could be met," the senator told newspapermen, "The state of New York, for instance, ought to be permitted to work out its own problems without being censured by a foreign government, which the Federal Government is so far as local problems are concerned."

"My amendment would give the states full power to handle social and economic problems within the states. Their laws could not be set aside provided the procedure was regular. The due process clause would be limited to procedure. The Supreme Court has held it covers the substance of legislation."

Representative Wilcox (D-Fla.) said meanwhile President Roosevelt's Supreme Court enlargement proposal was "the worst unfortunate political event of this generation."

Speaking in the House, the Florida urged rejection of the plan which would permit the President to name as many as six new justices unless those now on the bench who are over 70 retire.

Roosevelt Presses Drive
President Roosevelt meanwhile pressed his drive for support of his court reorganization program today by calling another series of conferences with congressional and departmental leaders.

The conferences were announced by the White House a short while after usually well-informed persons said the President was considering using his Supreme Court proposal as a weapon to force action on a constitutional amendment.

Nine members of the House, including eight Democrats and one Farmer Laborite, were invited to the executive mansion for a mid-afternoon discussion.

Before this meeting, the President arranged to have lunch with Solicitor General Stanley Reed, who helped draft the court reorganization plan, and Robert Jackson, assistant attorney general, who is assisting in studies on wage and hour legislation.

Senators Hughes (D-Ind.) and Landon (R-Minn.) also were on today's White House engagement list. After his meeting with Mr. Roosevelt, Hughes said they had discussed the court.

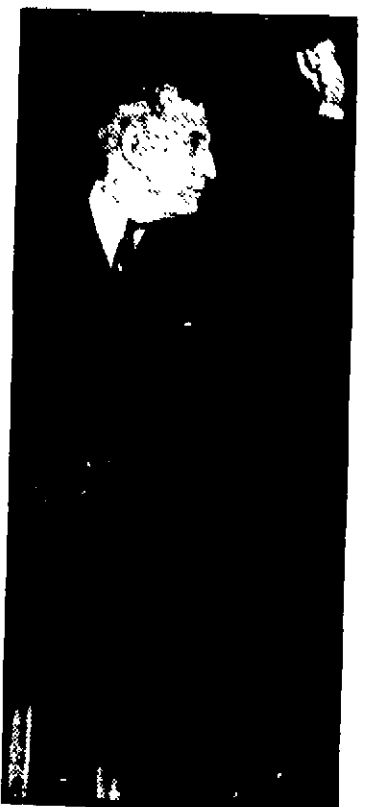

"I have not made any announcement and I will not until after hearings have been held," he told reporters.

Highest Egg Production

Albany, Feb. 25 (AP)—The highest winter egg production on record in New York state, with a consequent drop in market prices, was attributed today to unusually mild temperatures. The State Department of Agriculture and Markets declared that a report of 42.3 production was the highest recorded for February 1 since collection of data was begun in 1924.

Ras Demtu Killed By Italians, Last of Ethiopian Threats

Addis Ababa, Feb. 25 (AP)—Ras Demtu, son-in-law of Haile Selassie and last of the Ethiopian chiefs to dispute Italian occupation, has been captured and executed, an official communique announced early today.

He was killed yesterday immediately after an Italian scouting party seized him in the mountain region west of the lakes stretching south of Addis Ababa.

The Fascist soldiers surprised the Ras with a few followers. There was a quick exchange of shots, then capture.

His death was interpreted by informed circles as marking the removal of the final vestiges of organized resistance to Italy's colonization of Haile Selassie's former domain. Colonial authorities believed Ras Demtu's forces were the only sizeable opposition to Italian rule.

Last Friday 3,000 of Ras Demtu's followers battled four Italian columns 70 miles south of Addis Ababa at the moment hand grenades were hurled at Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, viceroy of Ethiopia, in the capital.

Although practically all Ras Demtu's chiefs were killed in the battle or executed after capture, the Ras himself escaped. He had been wounded, however, it was said.

Italian scouts took up the trail of the Ras and his followers and were able to surprise them finally and seize their leader.

The number of Ethiopians executed in Addis Ababa as a result of the Ras and his followers was unofficially placed in the hundreds. There still were no official figures on the number of natives dragged before firing squads.

Mines Blown Up

Madrid, Feb. 25 (AP)—Tunneling millmen, laboring feverishly to forestall an insurgent attempt to dynamite the government held dental clinic in University City, blew up their own and their enemies' mines in a terrific explosion today. Insurgents had mined part of the ground under the clinic when government soldiers learned of the operation. Squads of workmen hurriedly dug a government tunnel underneath the insurgent mine. Then quantities of explosives were tapped into place in the lower tunnel and the two subterranean passages exploded.

WANTS PROPOSALS IN CONSTITUTION SO NO PRESIDENT CAN CHANGE THEM

Says Washington Left Heritage of Good Advice for United States but "We Have Never Taken it."

Major General Smedley D. Butler, outstanding among those prominent fighting men known as the "Bulldogs of the Navy," more properly the U. S. Marine Corps, who entered the service as a lad of 16 and by meritorious service and ability rose to the high rank of a major general, was the drawing card that gave the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church a record attendance at its annual Washington's Birthday dinner held at the church Wednesday night.

The general, who retired October 1, 1931, and who is now living at the old home in Newtown Square, Delaware county, Pennsylvania, has a reputation that is more than nation-wide as a fighter, both in and out of the service. He showed traces of the old fighting spirit as he held the interested attention of the large audience that filled the lecture room of the church Wednesday night and talked for over an hour on some of the causes of war, its utter futility and steps that could be and ought to be taken to make certain that the United States does not again become embroiled in foreign conflicts, especially to protect special interests—and he left little doubt in the minds of his hearers that the protection of financial interest was the motive power that had been behind the use of American troops on foreign soils.

He named two steps that in his opinion should be taken to insure future non-participation of the United States in foreign wars and there was prolonged laughter and applause when he suggested that these provisions should be placed in the constitution of the United States in such definite words that "No President, single-handed, could change it if he wanted to." The provisions he recommended were:

1. Under no condition shall an American with a gun on his shoulder go outside of the continental United States.
2. The American flag shall never be run on American ships outside American waters, except it be on government ships, which we can control.

Tells About Washington

The second speaker of the evening was one of Kingston's most prominent citizens, Roscoe Irwin, former city judge and mayor of Kingston and collector of internal revenue, who spoke interestingly of the early life and career of General Washington, his devotion to the newly formed nation and the principles he illustrated in his life.

Musical during the evening was under the direction of Paul Zucca, assisted by Paul Purcell, William J. Rathie, Edward P. Ward and Daniel Blitner. They gave numerous instrumental and vocal selections during the dinner and led in general singing which was heartily engaged in by all. A pleasing feature was a tribute to General Butler when just before the opening of the speaking program the orchestra gave "From the Halls of Montezuma," the Marine hymn, the music having been thoughtfully provided by Mrs. W. L. Steiner. General Butler showed his appreciation of the courtesy as he joined the musicians in the words and rose in acknowledgment at its conclusion.

As on former like occasions the complete turkey dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of Kingston's Wynkoop Guild and once again they "did themselves proud." Tables were prettily decorated with cut flowers and lighted candles, a large corps of Guild members was on hand to render prompt and efficient service and the dinner, like its predecessors, was given unstinted praise. The ladies well deserved the rising vote of thanks that was given them at the conclusion of the evening.

The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Palmer, president of the club, presided during the evening. At the opening he referred to the fact that 15 years ago the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve instituted this annual Washington's Birthday dinner and that it had been successfully continued since that time. At his request the guests arose and sang two verses of America, following which there was a period of silence in tribute to the memory of Dr. Boeve, following which the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the church, gave the invocation.

Following the service of the dinner Dr. Palmer briefly introduced General Butler. He said that he had recently read the life of General Butler, as written by Lowell Thomas, and was greatly tempted to refer to some of the incidents given there, but would refrain in order that the speaker might have all the time he desired.

Impression in Kingston

In opening his address General Butler said that he appreciated the opportunity to be before the old Dutch church. He said he did not think anyone could be so much interested in a man as he was in General Butler. He said he was a great admirer of General Butler and that he was proud to be able to speak at his birthday dinner. Federal Funds for The Unemployment Compensation Law

In granting federal funds to states for administration of their approved unemployment compensation laws, as provided by the Social Security Act, the Social Security Board, through its field office here, announced today that it would pay only the expenses of the particular agencies administering the state unemployment compensation laws.

While agencies, such as state comptrollers and auditors, civil service commissions, attorneys general, or state treasurers may perform services directly or indirectly concerned with the administration of a state unemployment compensation law, the board said it would not, except in two definitely limited situations, compensate the states for the services of these agencies.

The board ruled that it may be advisable to permit an exception to this general policy where it is the regular fiscal practice in a state for overhead service agencies to receive their necessary administrative funds by a charge upon each state agency for the particular services rendered to it rather than by general legislative appropriation.

An exception, according to the ruling, may also be permitted where a state can show that an office, other than the recognized unemployment compensation agency, has taken on a distinct and additional function of a type usually performed by an unemployment compensation agency and not of a type regularly rendered by this agency to other agencies of the state governments, and provided the unit of the agency performing this special service operates as an integral part of the unemployment compensation agency, its sole function being to service the unemployment compensation agency.

Under the Social Security Act, all proper costs of administering state unemployment compensation laws which have been approved by the Social Security Board are paid by the Federal Government, provided the state meets certain specified requirements for administration. These are designed to insure efficient administration by the states, so that workers will be paid benefits promptly when due and so that any worker who is denied benefits will be given opportunity for a fair hearing before an impartial tribunal.

In carrying out these provisions of the act, the Social Security Board is required to pass on the administrative machinery set up by the states and to determine the amounts necessary for the proper administration of the state unemployment compensation laws.

The board's policy with regard to expenses of overhead service agencies of state governments, directly or indirectly concerned with the administration of their unemployment compensation laws, is consistent with established federal practice. Other federal agencies, such as the Federal Office of Education, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the United States Public Health Service, in making grants to the states for administration of cooperative federal-state activities, pay the expenses only of the particular state agency administering the activity.

Judith Anderson says: "Luckies never irritate my throat"

"A long successful run on Broadway is a 'run' on the actor's endurance, as well. Particularly it's a strain on our voices and throats. My present role in 'Hamlet' is a special strain because of the declamatory style of Shakespearean drama. Luckies were my choice when I began smoking . . . and today they are still my favorite cigarette. I enjoy their fine tobacco and I find my throat is much better off with a light smoke. Russia Will Send 10 Germans Away From Moscow Soon

Moscow, Feb. 25 (AP)—Ten Germans, arrested on suspicion of sabotage and espionage in November, last year will be deported from Russia immediately, the Soviet government informed the German embassy today. The embassy declared it "was not advised" on the status of 34 other Germans known to be held in Russian jails.

Four of the Germans facing deportation are incarcerated in Moscow and the other six are in jail at Leningrad.

(German Ambassador Count Friedrich von der Schulenburg made "serious" representations on behalf of the imprisoned Germans last week.)

(Russian Vice-Commissioner for Foreign Affairs N. N. Krestinsky, in reply, said he would attempt to determine the status of the prisoners but that investigation of their alleged sabotaging activities had not been completed.)

The liberated Germans are expected to leave Moscow for Berlin tomorrow night.

Authoritative sources said Russian officials characterized the Germans as "undesirable Fascist elements." None of the prisoners, the German embassy asserted, is prominent.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff promised Count von der Schulenburg last November that all Germans against whom there was "not serious evidence" would be released and deported.

Marriage Annulled

The marriage of Spencer C. Schoonmaker of Gardiner to Clara Teller Schoonmaker of Montgomery has been annulled by order of Supreme Court Justice Foster on the grounds of fraud and deceit. Plaintiff was represented by Earl H. Houghtaling of Waiden. The action is brought by plaintiff, by Clarence L. Schoonmaker as guardian, for a dissolution of the marriage on the grounds that at the time of the marriage at Brunswick on July 4, 1936, the defendant concealed from the plaintiff certain facts about her past life and made certain misrepresentations to the plaintiff.

As regards Ariel and Caliban, the course of genius never did run smooth.

Conway Opposes Bill Putting New Traffic Court in Albany

Opposing a bill to establish a new traffic court in Albany, Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Kingston Republican, said in the State Assembly Wednesday, that he would not vote for such a measure until an amendment had been made providing that the court would have jurisdiction in the city of Albany alone.

Assemblyman Conway explained his opposition as follows: "Judge of a recorder's court in Albany in 1872 had the same power as a Supreme Court judge at chambers. In 1891 there was an amendment limiting the jurisdiction to the Third Judicial District, including Ulster county."

"I object to this power being invested in men whom we in Ulster county do not elect, and until an amendment is made which will limit the jurisdiction of the new traffic court to the city of Albany alone I shall oppose the measure."

Assemblyman Conway recalled an incident growing out of a wrangle at a football game some years ago between Kingston High School and an Albany eleven. An Albany official was arrested by the Kingston police, but was released from custody on a writ of habeas corpus issued by a capital city judge.

"Things like this are essentially wrong, and I shall not vote for the traffic court bill unless an amendment is made to the law giving the Albany court power in the whole Third Judicial District."

The bill to create the new Albany traffic court was introduced by George Foy, Albany Democrat.

ULSTER AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION ASSOCIATION

The Ulster County Agricultural Association was organized at a recent county-wide meeting here and attended by over 200 farmers from all parts of the county. John Miller of Capstone Farm was elected president, and the directors are Frank Gaffney, Clintondale; Fred Simpson, Accord; E. C. Quimby, Marlborough; Harry J. Beatty, Kingston. The board met and elected an agricultural conservation committee, which will have full charge of the work in the county. This committee consists of John Miller, chairman; Frank Gaffney and Harry Beatty, with Albert Kurdt, county agricultural agent, as secretary. They will meet in the near future and set up the necessary office facilities to conduct the program in 1937.

Dim Lights Bill

Albany, Feb. 25 (AP)—Legislation requiring motorists to deflect headlights within 500 feet of approaching automobiles was advanced in New York's legislature today in the interests of highway safety. The outgrowth of a two-day public hearing on motor vehicle bills now before the legislature, the measure would make violation a misdemeanor, punishable by a $10 fine or five-day jail sentence.

CIO Enlists Workers After Aircraft Plant Closes

Ring (extreme right), an organizer for the CIO, is shown passing out application cards to a group of workers after a sit-down strike of some 500 employees forced a suspension of work at the Douglas Aircraft company plant in Santa Monica, Calif. Dissolution Action Granted by Foster

Lina Walker of Napanoch has been granted a dissolution of her marriage to Fletcher Walker by Justice Foster following a hearing at Monticello special term. The action was brought on the grounds the defendant had absented himself from home of plaintiff for over five years. Benjamin Lonsdale appeared for plaintiff. The parties were married December 28, 1928 at New Paltz and the plaintiff alleged in her complaint that on August 25, 1929 her husband left her and she had not been able to locate him since. Custody of a daughter is awarded petitioner. The decree is interlocutory and becomes final in three months.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF THE TOWN OF OLIVE

In order that the taxpayers of the Town of Olive will be acquainted with the facts regarding the Proposed Construction of the Town Garage, I herewith submit the following:

The Proposed Building is 50 feet wide and 100 feet long, built of brick with concrete foundation, cellar and floors. The back and sides each having one large roller-type door. The floor of Equipment Garage has a wash rack and repair pit, with work benches at end of same. All windows are of the steel frame, small glass type. The roof is of the built up type, asbestos shingle and is supported by steel I beams. The cellar is built of concrete, size 19 feet by 28 feet and is placed under the front of the building. There are two small rooms built at the front of the garage, one intended as a convenient place to safely store the records of the Town Clerk's Office, because the number of years these records cover makes it impossible to store them in the town's fireproof safe. The proposed heating system is of the Vapor type, return drainage, oil burning type with Thermostat control, thus saving the town the cost of a janitor or watchman. The building as designed is large enough to house the $35,000 worth of machinery now owned by the town, and have space left for repair of machinery.

The cost to the Town of Olive taxpayers as the Town of Olive's share of construction is approximately $5,000, or about 9c on each $100 assessed valuation. The cost each year to maintain the building, including electricity and oil, is approximately $300. The saving in maintenance and operation of machinery, not to mention the saving in depreciation and insurance, would be $800 each year.

While the notice states that cost of building was not to exceed $15,500, it is not likely that the cost would reach that figure. The building is primarily a storage garage for machinery and equipment and is not intended for either a Town Hall or Voting Place.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWEL DU BOIS, Supervisor.

Mrs. Page Spoke To Women's Club Of Southern Ulster

Highland, Feb. 25.—Mrs. William Blauvelt Page, of Nyack, director of the Ninth district, also Mrs. Eugene Relyea, of New Paltz, spoke at the meeting of the Women's Club of Southern Ulster County held Tuesday afternoon in the small hall of St. Augustine's Church.

Mrs. Relyea, introduced by the club president, Mrs. A. Loren LeFevre, extended the greetings of one club woman to another and urged the joining and attending club meetings for the contacts which are of benefit. She spoke of the spring meetings, that of the Neighborhood Council to be held in Poughkeepsie and of the Ulster and Orange county meeting. The date and place of the latter not having been set.

Mrs. Page defined active membership in clubs as widening and broadening life, she believed that being a member and worker in the church and the club as essential parts of life. It helped one in taking stock of self and in taking interest in village affairs, created hobbies and enabled dreams to be accomplished. Her advice was to take a few interests and do them well. That club life included all kinds and creeds and the interchange of knowledge or sales paid in benefits received. She advised department, exchange of books, or garden seeds or cuttings, or that of school or playground. That club life was a sort of clearing house. Her talk closed with the quotation, "Service is the rent we pay for the space we occupy." She also spoke of the conference of the Ninth district to be held in Bronxville on May 9 and the state meeting to be held in Albany. Her talk was both practical and of interest.

The state president, Mrs. Lawson, had asked for a poll on the President's Supreme Court recommendation. Of guests and members present five favored the President's request and six were against it.

Mrs. LeFevre said that James McDonald, former president of the Foreign Policy Association, would be the speaker at the conference held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston early in May. This will include the Ninth district and part of the Third district.

Two new members were received, Mrs. William Buddenhagen of Port Ewen and Mrs. George Hildebrand of Highland. All gathered about tables for cake and coffee served by Mrs. LeFevre, Miss Minna Strohman, Miss Eliza Raymond, Mrs. J. J. Gaffney, and Mrs. Loren Abrams. Present aside from the guests were: Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Ruth, Mrs. G. Willard Jenkins of New Paltz, Mrs. Lynn Baker, Mrs. Raphael Klien, Mrs. Gaffney, Mrs. Abrams, Mrs. Hildebrand, Mrs. Alice Dumond, Mrs. LeFevre, Miss Raymond, Mrs. Buddenhagen.

Merchandising Art Is Art of Serving

there by us but by the people who patronize our company. We know that the average person likes the color of red best and that the average woman won't visit our station if the turn is difficult to execute in coming there and we also know that it makes no difference to a man. Human beings are peculiar and you have to strike an average in order to satisfy all. Women will go into a bargain basement to buy, men won't. Men will climb an extra floor for a bargain, women won't. Men buy on the first attempt, women shop around three times before they buy. Women prefer to shop on the sunny side of the street while men prefer to shop on the shady side. In going through a door, most people prefer to go to the right. All these things and hundreds more are necessary data if one is to strike an average and determine what people want and do not want. In our business life, most of us get that what we like or what we think best is of no importance. What is important is to do the things the average individual who patronizes us likes and then we are approaching perfection in merchandising.

Mr. Lovejoy gave some interesting examples to prove his point. His most humorous example was a personal one. He explained that the Lovejoy Company was a concern composed of his wife, himself and his three children. Mrs. Lovejoy is president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and Mr. Lovejoy and his three daughters are the board of directors. In 25 years, said the speaker, the board of directors has never put its wants across unless Mrs. Lovejoy voted as a member of the board.

One day one of Mr. Lovejoy's daughters met him at the train and explained that a neighbor wanted to give the Lovejoy family a small kitten. Mr. Lovejoy and his daughter realized that such a gift wouldn't pass muster with the president of the concern.

"We might stand half a chance if the kitten was merchandised properly," mused Mr. Lovejoy to his daughter.

sponsive chord in the president's armor and sell the kitten to Mrs. Lovejoy, make her want it, so to speak. So father and daughter thought the thing over on the way home and decided that a name for the kitten was all important. Mr. Lovejoy suddenly remembered that his wife enjoyed buying the neighborhood children an ice cream on a stick called Popsicle. "Popsicle," said Mr. Lovejoy, "will be the kitten's name." So the two of them drove around to the donor's house and picked up Popsicle.

Arriving home, Mr. Lovejoy held Popsicle in his arm and approached the doorway to be greeted by Mrs. Lovejoy. "Here's Popsicle," murmured Mr. Lovejoy earnestly. "Oh, what a lovely little kitten," said Mrs. Lovejoy.

"Half sold already," thought Mr. Lovejoy to himself as he carried Popsicle into his new home. "That," said Mr. Lovejoy, "was an example of almost perfect merchandising."

The speaker also told the story of the engineer in the Ford Motor Company some years ago who reasoned that as long as most people get out of an automobile on the right side, why bother with doors on the left side? At $2.60 saved on each door and with 300,000 cars assembled each year, the saving would be considerable. The plan had possibilities and the company sent out letters to its dealers for pros and cons in the matter. One letter from a dealer was especially noteworthy. Wrote the dealer: "I have a better plan. Why not include a can opener in the tool chest and let each buyer cut the damn doors in anyplace he pleases?"

"All Are Sinners." Mr. Lovejoy stated that one of the poorest merchandising efforts he had ever seen was in a New York City church where he went to attend a wedding. Over the doorway was a sign that said in effect "We are all sinners." Such a slogan, said the speaker, throws a person into the depths of despair because a person starts thinking what a sinner he or she is before ever getting started on the business of a wedding. "Religion," observed Mr. Lovejoy, "must be merchandised the same as anything else. A man isn't especially interested in saving his soul until he is shown it is worth saving."

In concluding, the speaker again stressed his sincere belief that it is essential to everyone, big and small, to never lose touch with the people as a whole. In business, in politics, in every phase of life, it is necessary to remember that what we think is the thinking of but one person. To achieve success in any type of endeavor, whether it be nations or individuals, it is important to remember that the will of the people will make or break anything, however big or small that thing may be.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of St. James M. E. Church will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel. Shafer and Mrs. M. R. Bartlett. The mite boxes will be opened at this meeting.

youth of the country the scouting movement during this period of their life when proper guidance and direction means so much for their future.

He spoke of the conditions which face the rural youths of the country today and told of the aid which 4-H lent to the youths of America and also the Boy Scout movement. To carry the Boy Scout movement out from the city and from the suburban sections to the boys in the country, he said would be of great assistance. Mr. Benson spoke of John Dillinger, a country born youth who because of bad guidance had become a bad criminal. Dillinger, he said, had gotten hold of the wrong type of associates and his early years had molded his career. Contrasting with the famous criminal the speaker told of Calvin Coolidge, another country born youth. Coolidge, he said, had associated himself with a different type of youth and he pointed out the difference which this early training did make in the careers of the two. Both had been country born lads but one had taken up proper associations while the other did not.

Comparisons Drawn
Gerald Chapman and Al Smith,

both born in about the same section of New York, he pointed out probably had the same opportunity when lads. Chapman had selected the wrong path and the wrong companions while Al Smith had chosen the right path. One of the greatest needs of the country today is to get the right kind of associates for the boys, both in the city and in the rural sections. The Boy Scout movement is one way to accomplish this and by carrying the movement out into the rural sections more boys will be brought into better company and make better associates.

At the conclusion of the talk by Mr. Benson there was a general discussion of the job which is to be done and of ways and methods to solve the problem. The discussion was led by Mr. Wright and by Gilbert H. Gendall, regional executive of the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Gendall has for some 30 years been associated with the rural youth in the east and central west.

From the discussion of the rural youth problem which the open forum presented the members attending the meeting felt they had a real problem to solve and the meeting was finally adjourned subject to a call at some future date when a further study will be made of what may be done to bring Boy Scouting to the rural sections where now it is but little carried on.

Local Attorneys Receive Ballots

Local attorneys, members of the American Bar Association, have been sent ballots for a poll being taken by the American Bar Association on the proposed plan of President Roosevelt for the reorganization of the courts. The poll is not only confined to the so-called plan to "pack the United States Supreme Court" but also regarding the President's plan for a reorganization of other courts.

The American Bar Association, which has as its membership many of the leading attorneys of the country, has a membership of some 20,000.

The New York City Bar Association has already met and acted on the matter and a movement is underway for similar meetings of bar associations throughout the state so that the prevailing opinion of bar associations may be learned and this sentiment expressed to the legislators for their guidance.

One of the latest opponents to the plan to add members to the United States Supreme Court is Senator Copeland, Democrat, of New York, who has recently issued a statement to that effect.

PACED TO BE OUT IN FRONT
but priced with the sixes!

You drive a big bargain when you pilot this stunning Buick special down the road! It's a sales-in-head straight-eight—priced only slightly higher than the average six outside the lowest price field.

*LOWEST PRICE EVER ON A BUICK 4-DOOR SEDAN!

Today's price for a Buick 4-door sedan is the lowest in all Buick history—and you get longer wheelbase—greater power—valve-in-head thrust—straight-eight smoothness—remorseless body—safety glass all around—bigger luggage compartment—and immeasurably greater performance, comfort and style! See your dealer for less delivered prices, and see what a big Buick really is, compared to the average six outside the lowest price field.

GENERAL BUICKS TRUCK TO YOU

YOUR MONEY GOES FURTHER IN A GENERAL BUICKS CAR

CARWISE you're out in front when you take your comfortable place behind this Buick SPECIAL's wheel—under its bonnet is not merely an eight, but an oil-cushioned valve-in-head straight-eight, which means the ablest of them all!

It will show feet heels to any highway challenger except another Buick—yet the unbelievable thing is not this gorgeous car's performance, but its price. Big, handsome, smartly styled as it is, it costs close to the sizes that it so easily out-performs.

This four-door sedan pictured here actually costs less delivered, than some cars with two fewer cylinders and less efficient engine design.

Even when you average all the sixes outside of the lowest price field, you find little more than a dollar-a-week difference the first year and after that it's velvet.

Count just the mechanical differences—torque-tube drive, valve-in-head engine design, double-end stabilization, Aerobac carburetion, a whole carful of such features—and that dollar-plus added each week to the easy payments begins to pale into no burden at all.

Just get in a Buick—give yourself over to a real thrill for ten or fifteen minutes—you'll forget about price entirely! You can afford it—because it's priced down with the sixes, so why be content with any lesser car?

"It's Buick again!"

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

Chapter One
Lovers Go To Luncheon

EVE MANNERSFIELD leaned back from her desk alongside the great plate-glass windows. She thrust her brown-gold curls behind her ears, and rapturously contemplated the gorgeous bonfire of all her bridges.

She tried to fix her mind on an uncompleted sheet of neat honeymoon arithmetic, but she was too excited. Next week Herndon and Co. would be short one of their most promising young publicity assistants. It was also her next-to-last week in the tiny apartment where she had spent three hard-working, hard-playing New York years. There had been two years before that in a hall bedroom.

In exactly 14 days she and Denny Carter would be unbelievably, magnificently honeymooning their way round the world.

Denny had landed his new job as publicity man for the Southern Star Line. From April first he would be the head of the house, and she would be one more of the pretty idle brides in rough seagoing coats or smart southern sport clothes, forgetting diligently all she had ever known about layouts. It would be heaven.

Dear boyish Denny, with his long, slim body, his slanting blue-green eyes like a sleepy cat's, his slow southern voice and his quick southern pride! He'd hated so her making more money than he did; her having a cubicle of her own, while his desk was among the others out on the floor. And small blame to him! It was nice for a man to be that way.

She was so deep in her thoughts which were a kaleidoscope of the silk bathing suit in Lester's window, the again himself. "All right, Elsie Dinsmore! I adore you when you go sentimental, Eve. Where shall we eat?"

"I've been eating on the rich and great till I never want to see a swank restaurant again. The 5-and-10, for all I care. A cup of coffee and you, dear. Have to keep me fidgety!"

"Oh, for cat's sake don't be tactful, Denny burst out.

Eve, who had spoken in all good faith, looked at her lover in surprise. "I wasn't if you want to spend on me high and handsome, go ahead, darling. Had a windfall?"

"No, but hang it a fellow wants to make the grand gesture once in a while. We're going to make the grand gesture today, Mrs. Carter!"

"I love grand gestures," Eve laughed at him over her big furry

"Not only love you, but have one of my own. Then I needn't bother to have any dinner to speak of tonight. I want to do some digging in the apartment."

Eve smiled across at him. She loved it all: the warm smoky dusky restaurant, with its content, murmuring pairs all about her, its rich deep colors vague on the walls, its eager little tactful waiters, the laughing noise from the bar; above all, Denny's big hand with the fair down on its franky clasping hers across the table, and Denny's adoring long eyes holding her eyes fast. The waiter broke the perfect moment, bringing their order. They tried to eat, but they didn't get far. Eve had merely cut her nice little steak, and Denny's oval dish of potatoes, and there, its smoking rough brown surface broken by his nervous fork, when he spoke, a little shyly.

"You'll Be The Perfect Wife"

"WHEN we come back we must go apartment hunting. I thought perhaps we might even get it in before we left, so long as you're leaving Saturday."

Eve made herself speak very practically and soberly. "When's your lease up, yours and Dick's?"

"Lease? What? We haven't any, it's a monthly arrangement as best as our humble condition, and the landlord grateful at that."

"Oh, that makes things perfect. We can do practically anything, because mine's up the first of the month."

"And that's quite close. We're free as air." They shook hands excitedly over the potatoes. "Waiter, get us a paper, won't you?"

The waiter, smiling paternally, presented them with a paper.

Eve and Denny laughed in the crowded noontime New York street. People turned to look at them, both so tall and fair and gay, and so obviously on top of the world.

problem of a new suitcase versus another evening sock, and Denny's own laughing voice and last gay kiss the night before, that she jumped at the warm feel of his hand on her shoulder.

"Hurry, my own darling angel!" he said, stooping to kiss her. "Let's go to lunch and plan like the devil."

"Right with you!" she said blithely. She stood up and began setting herself in order. Even the raw light of the floor-to-ceiling Madison avenue windows could find no flaw in her freshness. She had a mannequin's tall narrow, boneless figure. Her twisted suit with its blue twin sweaters, its funny, brown leather beads, was so smartly worn that only a salesman could have guessed how little the whole outfit cost. She pulled a low tweed hat over the gold-brown mane that made piquant her wide-spaced, slanted brows and wide-set, hazel eyes. She fended Denny off from another kiss, reddened her smiling, generous mouth, snatched her bag and gloves and was with him.

"Almost through with the old dump," Denny said as they crossed the long room with its rows of desks, and passed out into the tiny waiting room with its scattered books and bright-framed "originals." His waiting artists and writers, self-conscious in the tall Jacobean armchairs against the paneled walls.

"I love it here," Eve said impulsively. "It's like home. I'm almost sorry I resigned."

"Mrs. Denny was not enthusiastic. 'Just a corner at best! Or looking for the glimmer of a vacuum!'

He shook his head, silent till they got outside. Then he squeezed her elbow closer as they walked; he was never near her long without touching her in some way. "Just down a bit."

Both So Fair and Gay

EVE never much minded Denny's "downs"—they were so little, boyish that cooing them, as if rather amused her. Eve herself rarely had conscious moods of depression. She lived life. She had a job she enjoyed, she had lots of friends she adored, she was pretty and popular, and best of all, Denny and she were in love and going to be married and going on a trip.

"Even if there was trouble, there'd be nothing to do about it but to help the ones you can and not brood about the ones you can't," she pointed out to Denny.

He laughed at her earnestness, and collar. "In fact, Denny, I even love you when you're grumpy," she said shamelessly. "You must have been on a party and a half last night."

He grinned. "Well, it was rather a bit used to know called me up. Little knowing I was now yours alone. Was I low to do, sweet? It was fuller of food and drink than any party I've seen since '29, when I was a mere lad! My girl, I simply made a pig of myself on caviar."

Eve and Denny were modern-minded: all she said was, placidly, "Ah, yes, caviar does give one such a hangover."

They both laughed irrepressibly, there in the crowded noontime New York street. People turned to look at them, both so tall and fair and gay, and so obviously on top of the world.

"Well, I'm not to Pierre's or Le Boeuf! I'm to Tom, whichever we remember most of your dear," said Eve cheerfully.

"Always want to call it the Boot on the Roof," said Denny irreverently. "That arch hasn't fair. Did I yelp when you beat-down your last lecture on Englishmen all over the hot spots of New York in January?"

"We must be sure to get a place with a cross-draft, and good closets," Eve said.

"By George, Eve, you'll be the perfect wife; you sound domestic already."

"I always was domestic," Eve said. "I was brought up in the Connecticut farming country—how often must I tell you? I helped with the housework and my aunt's home-baking business that kept off the world in a genteel fashion. I'll want to Smith. Only one year, darling, but don't forget to be impressed."

"Everything about you impresses me to the bone," he said, starting suddenly at her—the hat at the smart angle, the lips with their lipstick matched to her curls, the pretty arrogant face that laughed at him.

"You're more of the city than the city itself. It's one of the things I love you for. Precious, sure you don't mind chucking the great career and all that, just to go sailing with your Denny?"

"I don't! I'm not one of those old-fashioned girls that wants self-expression! I'm going to swim and play ring-toss and be on deck and look at attractive strangers under my eyelashes, and do everything I long for. I've ever read about in the glamour advertisements. I've been craving my young ever since Auntie Lila died, at the beginning of my sophomore year. You can just see it for me, now, you old cave man. Besides—I'm rather free, you know."

"If she had a feeling in her heart that she wasn't always going to be able to keep her hands off her work, this was not the time to say so. The two of them would be a grand combination, she thought secretly, and what did it matter if Denny got the credit? All the better, poor darling, after having to stand a sweetheart who was ahead of him on the ladder."

"Tell us when," Denny said suddenly. "Let's throw a party tonight and tell the world our party secret!"

"They're mostly guessed it," said Eve. "But grand!"

"Let's make a list of who we'll call."

Denny fell to scribbling and drawing. But Eve, digging in her bag for her notebook and pen, discovered also her morning mail, which she had snatched up on the way out and forgotten till now.

Tops This Modern House

If you have modern inclinations, this flat-roofed stucco house at San Antonio will appeal.

The plan combined living and dining rooms in an L-shape, and supplied a breakfast alcove as well. The large, almost continuous windows leave uninterrupted wall spaces for furniture. The light, airy bedrooms (with big closets) are unusually attractive sleeping quarters.

The roof has been finished for a garden terrace, reached by an outside stairway. The mechanical equipment includes a cooling plant.

Adams and Adams, architects, did the plan which was included in a group of outstanding small homes chosen by the Architectural Forum, 135 E. 42nd street, New York, N. Y. It cost $6,741 to build this house.

Sir Guy Standing Dies at Hollywood

Hollywood, Feb. 25 (AP)—Death of Sir Guy Standing, 63-year-old English actor, saddened the international industry of motion pictures today.

The noted character star, knighted for service to his country in the World War, was seized by a fatal heart attack on a business errand in Hollywood yesterday.

His brother, Wyndham Standing, also a film actor, waited today for word from Sir Guy's third wife, now in London, before completing funeral arrangements. She is an actress known on the stage as Dorothy Hammond.

A moment before he collapsed, Sir Guy told a questioner, "I never felt better in my life."

CENTRAL HUDSON Gas & Electric Corporation

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOB

New York, Feb. 25 (AP).—A dribble of liquidation today washed away part of the stock market's early gains.

After rising fractions to around 2 points by mid-day, the market turned irregular and some coppers and steels which rose during the morning slid back a bit along with other groups.

Up fractions to a point or so were Sears Roebuck, Marshall Field, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Callahan Zinc, Butte Copper, du Pont, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Chrysler.

Under pressure were U. S. Steel, Case, Anaconda, Kennecott, New York Central, Southern Railway, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey and American Zinc.

Although rising metal prices stimulated demand for shares in this group, some sections failed to hold ground.

Grains were off, cotton steady. The French franc and pound sterling declined. The bond market was narrow.

Stock market transactions approximated 2,400,000 shares.

Merchandise issues, under the glow of recent estimates of increased farm purchasing power and of wage upturns in some industries, found friends.

In the background of trading in the aircrafts, analysts said, were sharp gains in air traffic.

Wall Street observers, still watching closely for developments on possible slackening of foreign demand for American securities, leaned to the view abatement of buying from abroad would probably have only a passing effect on the market.

Contrasting with this rather cheerful outlook, however, is comment to be heard in some quarters that the market has run ahead more swiftly than general business has recovered.

Attention Now Centered on Steel

With possibility of a 40-hour steel work week, the Walsh-Healey law and labor demands, attention was centered on steel yesterday. Crucible steel cut to 40 hours in one plant making war materials. Pig iron rose $1 a ton yesterday. Wire and nail products were jumped $3 to $5 a ton. Reports from Pittsburgh were that steel sheets and track spikes would go up $5 a ton March 1. President Fairless of Carnegie-Illinois told workers any price rises would be accompanied by wage increases. Some of company's employee representatives demanded $5 a day vs. the current $4.32, and a 40-hour week.

In Washington Commerce Secretary Roper, when asked if navy would buy steel abroad unless producers bid on naval needs, said production by government "more likely." He also predicted that stay-in strikes would be held illegal by the courts.

Copper was up abroad and export price reached 15.95 cents a pound here.

Gasoline stocks jumped 1,213,000 barrels last week to record total of 74,738,000 barrels. Total is not viewed as unduly high. Crude oil output last week was at record high of 3,235,950 barrels daily. Gasoline consumption this month, because of mild weather, is running 20 per cent ahead of last year.

Yesterday Pennsylvania crude oil was raised 10 cents a barrel. Still Oil Refining raised Kentucky crude 12 cents a barrel.

Northern Pacific Railroad's January net loss is estimated at $700,000 vs. $1,142,000 loss in January, 1935. Passenger traffic on the major air lines is picking up this month and is well ahead of a year ago.

Stock volume Wednesday was 2,080,000 shares vs. 2,870,000 Tuesday. Commodities averaged higher; London market was up. The Electric Boat tie-up ended after police evicted stay-in strikers, who then picketed, while others resumed work. The sheriff threatened Century Wall Paper sit-down strikers with tear gas bombs if they did not leave plant. They left. These are the first two cases of forcible eviction of sit-downers in the current wave of strikes.

Total rail wage demands now on file would cost roads $500,000,000 annually; workers are expected to compromise on lower figure.

Business Girls' Club

M. Joseph Block, a member of the Kingston High School faculty, addressed the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. at a meeting of the regular weekly assembly. Mr. Block, chosen as a sub-title "The Feminine Viewpoint of Europe." With the opening remark to the effect that the traveler is unfair who dissects a country on a casual trip, Mr. Block advised that the traveler should use not his own views but rather those of the natives or long time residents.

Having correspondents abroad, the speaker was able to give some of the foreign viewpoints of world affairs. Some of the views gleaned in regard to France and England show that the French attack the English because the English do not understand the French. The French attitude to Germany is that she wants to know France yet continuously betrays her.

Mr. Block then gave his own opinion of a few of the greater powers. "France is a nation of small shopkeepers. The women have a tremendous influence on politics and economics, much more than in the United States, in spite of the fact that in France there is no franchise. The German woman has no rights and her career is completely abolished. The Russian woman is forced to work, completely divorced from home, but she is able to live more fully and more profoundly than the other women of the world."

Mr. Block's closing remarks were that the peace of the world is in danger and that it is important for the United States to press neutrality at any cost.

On March 3, the guest speaker will be the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of the First Reformed Church. The speaker for the following week will be Frank W. Mason of the Saugerties High School. Members are invited to bring guests to this meeting to hear Mr. Mason.

Peter F. Weiss, a member of the Civil Engineering Society of Trinity College, attended the annual engineers and alumni banquet on Saturday at Angola, Ind.

After presenting the birthday cake, Martha and George danced a graceful minuet, which was followed with everyone joining in the singing of "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver." The delightful evening was brought to a close with the serving of a delicious covered dish supper. Each member and guest received a generous portion of the birthday cake and a tiny American flag as favors.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Box business is hard to guess. The most astute producers sometimes pass by scripts that later turn out to be smash hits—or what looks like a smash hit to have it lay an egg, as the saying goes. For instance, George M. Cohan, Jr. and Fred Finkelhoff, two young graduates of the Virginia Military Institute, sent a play around the country until it had reached 21 theaters. They were about ready to call it a day when George Abbott picked it up. The play is "Brother Rat," but from the take-off. As this is being written, the playwrights are in Nassau enjoying a vacation which they can now well afford. On their return, it is their intent, according to their announcement, to throw a party. Their guests will be the 21 producers who couldn't see any merit—or "box office"—in their play.

Then there was "White Horse Inn." A continental success, a number of producers considered bringing it over here. Channing Pollock did so. The Shuberts are said to have had their eyes on it for some time and Max Gordon is said to have given it consideration. But it is a huge and costly production with a plot of little less consistency than the old Cinderella yarn which has been re-worked in the theater so many times. Rowland V. Lee, in association with Warner Brothers, took the plunge. The Century theater was turned into a Tyrolean village at a cost of about $200,000, and thousands more went for costumes and other expenses. Three weeks ago "White Horse Inn" passed the half million dollar mark and is still going ahead at high speed.

Examples might be continued almost indefinitely. "Abie's Irish Rose," as you may remember, was turned down until Anne Nichols, the author, brought it out herself. It ran for five years. On the other hand, this season has witnessed flops of productions, one of which at least cost a quarter of a million dollars. As said in the beginning, show business is hard to guess.

Many of those productions that make critics sick of their jobs and that only a few nights aren't brought in for Broadway at all. Their final destination is Hollywood—or at least the producers and backers hope they will hit Hollywood. Many of them do. Several flops this season have travelled west after leaving behind as much as $25,000 for the rights.

Some actors, particularly ingenues and juveniles, consider Broadway merely a stepping stone to Hollywood. Every motion picture company of importance is represented in opening nights. The next morning, casting offices and scenario departments receive complete reports in the work of the actors as well as the suitability of their vehicle for screening. Scouts also visit summer theaters, night clubs and the few houses where there is still audience.

Amateur nights, which had such tremendous vogue just a short time ago, are experiencing waning popularity. They are not nearly so numerous as in the past and fail to attract the old following. One of the reasons given by a friend who knows his entertainment is that there is a scarcity of legitimate amateurs. Another is that the public prefers professionals.

Dr. Kelly Says Poison Was in Food

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP).—Dr. Henry T. Kelly, for more than 20 years associated with White Plains Hospital, added his testimony to the wealth of medical opinion which the state has brought forth in its efforts to prove that Chang Foo Lee, Korean houseboy, attempted to poison Mr. and Mrs. George H. Reeves, guests here in the home of Chang's aged employer.

Dr. Kelly bolstered the state's contention that the Reeveses were made seriously ill by poison administered in their food and not by substances with which the defense alleges they were treated for anemia.

Answering a nine-page hypothetical question, assuming all the facts in the state's case up to the present time, Dr. Kelly said that in his opinion that Mrs. Reeves during the month of August, last year, was suffering from acute poisoning.

Pearson, Writer, Found Lifeless At Palm Springs

Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP).—Humphrey Pearson, prominent film writer, was found shot to death in his bed at his desert cottage at midnight here at this wealthy resort.

Deputy Sheriff W. W. Walrath said Pearson's wife, weeping and hysterical, was in the same bed when the tragedy was discovered. She was unable to give a coherent story of what occurred.

Pearson was shot twice through the chest, the deputy said, and had been dead more than an hour before a butler summoned him to the Pearson home. The butler reported his attention had been attracted by Mrs. Pearson's sobs.

Pearson had been in ill health in recent years, associates said, and spent most of his time at this desert resort. He was about 40.

A former advertising man, he wrote for both the radio and films. He did dialogue for "Broadway Babies," and collaborated on "What Price Hollywood." His adaptations include "Top Speed," "Going Wild," "Sunny" and "The Great Flirtation."

Police Chief Lloyd Boller announced the death pistol had been found, but declined to disclose its location. It had been discharged twice.

He and his wife apparently had been drinking, Boller declared, and his body fell across the bed, pinning Mrs. Pearson beneath.

The butler was quoted as saying the Pearsons were strongly devoted to each other and not given to quarreling. Neither Boller nor other investigators would advance a theory regarding the shooting, pending further inquiry.

Can Skate Together

Tokyo, Feb. 25 (AP)—Men and women were permitted to skate in pairs today for the first time in Japanese history—provided they were professionals. The practice, strictly forbidden as immoral, was legalized by police in view of the Olympic Games to be held in Japan in 1940. Only professional skaters who can obtain a certificate of good character from Japan's National Skating Association will be allowed to skim the ice together.

Ford Prefers Newspapers

Ways, Ga., Feb. 25 (AP)—Henry Ford said today he preferred newspapers to history books in modern education—and not too many games during school hours. "Newspapers are the best educators," Ford said at his winter home in South Georgia. "They arrive every day and are up to the minute. I'm not keen on games. They are all right but the main thing in education after all is to teach boys and girls to be useful."

Discovery of Hot Springs

Pioneer trappers who first penetrated Arkansas found a series of mineral springs at what is now Hot Springs. They bathed in the waters and praised their medicinal value. Soon their fame reached the ears of President Jefferson, who sent Lewis and Clark to investigate. Another famous series of hot springs is at Rotorua, New Zealand. The springs cover an area of 660 square miles and vary in temperature from 60 degrees to the boiling point.

Services on Friday at 2 in the home will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick R. Bosch of the Reformed Church. Burial will be in Wallkill Valley cemetery, Walden.

The funeral of Peter W. Mahar, whose death occurred on Monday after a protracted illness, was held from the family home, 125 Grand street, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Joseph's Church at 9:30, where a high Mass of requiem was celebrated for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Edmund Burke. Responses of the Mass were sung by the children's choir. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends and as the remains reposed in the family home numerous floral offerings were placed near the casket along with spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards sent as a silent tribute from a host of sorrowing relatives and friends, attesting the high esteem the deceased was held in the community in which he resided for the past 16 years. Mr. Mahar before coming to Kingston was engaged in the blue stone business at West Hurley for a number of years. He was the son of the late Frank and Mary Gorman Mahar, who died several years ago. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mary O'Leary Mahar; four daughters, Mrs. James Howard, Mrs. Peter Reinhardt, Mrs. Helen Meyer, Loretta Mahar; one son, Peter, Jr.; three sisters, Mrs. James Ward of Port Jervis, Mrs. George Schick of Connelly, Miss Theresa Mahar of this city; one brother, Thomas Mahar of this city. On Tuesday evening a large number of relatives and friends met at the family home where the Rev. Father Burke recited the Rosary. Casket bearers, who were lifelong friends of the deceased, were Patrick Daley, Patrick Doolan, Patrick Lynch, James Boylan, Lawrence Britt. A large funeral cortege accompanied the remains to St. Mary's cemetery where the Rev. Father Manning pronounced final absolution as the remains were laid to rest.

Burial was in the Krumville cemetery.

Travel to Egypt Began

About the Year 900 B. C.

Commercially induced tributes to Egypt initiated by travel writers seem fulsome and weak when compared with the comments of Herodotus, who traveled through that land some 2,800 years ago, according to an authority. His plain statements were more forceful than any subtle use of adjectives.

"Of Egypt I shall make my report at length," his discourse begins, "because it has wonders more in number than any other land, and works too it has to show as much as any land, which are beyond expression great." Eminent man of the world, the most widely traveled of his age, Herodotus nevertheless could not contain his astonishment at many of the sights in Egypt.

He called the Nile "unlike any other river." He evinced great respect for the mental attainments of the Egyptians—"the most learned in the history by far of all those of whom I have had experience." But it was on the subject of Egypt's renowned climate that the Greek philosopher-historian showed himself at his best. "The Egyptians," he wrote, "are the most healthy of all men next after the Libyans, in my opinion on account of the seasons, because the seasons do not change." That single sentence contains the gist of many dissertations on the healthfulness of Egypt's un-falling sunshine.

Bond Street of London

Named After Speculator

During the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries the Bond street of New York and the Bond street of London had a similar aspect—both were lined with the residences of the well-to-do. Here those of bankers and merchants, there the homes of the landed nobility. Later in both streets merchandising prevailed.

The origin of the New York name is obvious: that of the London street came from Sir Thomas Bond, a Seventeenth century courtier attached to Queen Henrietta Maria, who was always persona grata at the Court of Whitehall in the reign of Charles II. to whom she is said to have advanced large sums of money.

According to Arthur Dasset, writing in the Daily Telegraph of London, toward the end of Charles' reign Sir Thomas began to speculate in London real estate, particularly in the West End, in the Parish of St. Martin-in-the-Field. His first transaction as recorded in the local Rate Book was when he acquired in 1683 Clarendon House in Piccadilly from General Monk's son, the second Duke of Albemarle, pulled it down and laid out both Albemarle and Bond streets through the property before he rebuilt.

Palestine Memorials

Palestine is rich in Crusader memorials. Even the Church of the Holy Sepulchre is said to represent Crusader's work, for the south facade and many parts of the sacred building, particularly the bell tower, were built by them during their occupation of the city. Both at Ramleh and Lydda, two important towns on the road between Jerusalem and Jaffa, may be seen churches built by the Crusaders. Near Arsuf there are the remains of an old castle which was occupied by Richard Coeur-de-Lion, King of England. Many of the castles and fortresses remain as safe and sound as they were when armies of Western Europe led by ghouls knights, invaded Syria and Palestine from 1099 to 1291, and waged their holy wars. These "Soldiers of the Cross" left their mark in Palestine in the names of Belvoir, Belvoir, Murabel, Blanchegarde or Sanga (St. Giles).

Another Screwballing Hubbell Makes His Bid For The Majors

Arkansas City, Kas. (UP)—The Hubbell of Meeker, Okla., have another contribution for the majors—maybe.

He is 19-year-old John Hubbell, right-handed screwball pitcher, brother of Southpaw Carl, the New York Giants' master of the corkscrew delivery and the National League's "most valuable" of 1936.

With John in town, Brother Carl went to the Giants Havana training quarters making the announcement that he never had seen John pitch—and wanted to.

Carl declared that he had nothing to do with the Giants' interest in John, that a scout had seen and become impressed by John's sandlot moundmanship in this territory last summer.

King Carl pointed out that the Giants could not sign John because of the major-minor sandlot agreement but that Manager Bill Terry, it sufficiently impressed, could ship John to the farm club at Greenwood, Miss., for further seasoning.

John's advancement to the big show would be no surprise to baseball fans hereabouts. They declare he won't stop short of the majors.

Becomes a Hero

When the state champion Arkansas City Dubbs were looking for a pitcher to reinforce their mound staff last summer, they brought in quiet and unassuming young Hubbell and started him against the Duncan Cementers, runners-up in the 1935 national semi-pro tournament. The Cementers had scored 20 runs on the Dubbs the evening before, as several pitchers paraded to the showers. Hubbell beat Duncan, 2-0, allowing but three hits, striking out 13 and issuing no walks.

Immediately young Hubbell became the town hero. At the state tournament in Wichita, young Hubbell won three games, shutting out the opposition in the finals.

Reception for A. B. C. Secretary Next Monday at Stuyvesant Hotel

Elmer E. Baumgarten, national secretary of the American Bowling Congress, will visit Kingston Monday and will be the guest of honor at a reception at the Stuyvesant Hotel at 6:30, Peter J. Keresman, president of the Kingston A. B. C. announced today.

All bowling captains are requested to inform their men of Mr. Baumgarten's visit and attend the reception. Tickets will be sold at a nominal price. All bowlers and all persons interested in bowling are urged to hear this nationally famous bowling figure.

"Kingston is being signally honored by the presence of the national secretary here Monday night," Keresman said today, "and I sincerely hope that every bowler who can possibly attend do so in order that we may pay our full respects to Mr. Baumgarten."

"Mr. Baumgarten's visit here with us, a first year organization in the A. B. C., is a rare distinction for a town of this size and I trust the local bowlers will show their appreciation by turning out in full force," the local bowling patrolman added.

City League Holds Up

President Keresman said that the City League matches would be held over until completion of the reception at the Stuyvesant. Several city officials are expected to attend as guests of the local association.

Leslie Buckley, secretary of the Albany A. B. C. Association, which is to sponsor the state tournament next year, notified the local committee yesterday that he may attend. Buckley spoke at the banquet of the City League last spring.

"A special meeting of the A. B. C. executive committee will be held tonight at the 'Y' at 7 o'clock sharp to make a report on the tournament program. All captains are invited to attend this meeting to crystallize sentiment on the reception," Mr. Keresman said in conclusion.

The national secretary will arrive in Kingston about 4:45 on his way from Milwaukee, national headquarters, to the American Bowling Congress tournament which opens March 10 in New York city.

Spring Football Practice Will Start After Easter for K. H. S.

Football's clarion call for spring practice sessions was sounded yesterday by Coach Kias at a meeting of the squad members of last season's DUSO championship unit. The Maroon and White gridiron mentor announced his pickin plans for the coming spring sessions to a group of 35 veteran candidates. The spring practice drills will get under way shortly after the Easter vacation with gridiron equipment to be issued during the week of March 22 to last year's veterans. New candidates will receive uniforms at a date to be arranged in the near future. The Kiamen will launch another preview system of drills on April 5 and daily practice will continue for four full weeks in order to condition the KHS pickin pushers for an intensive schedule. Coach Kias announced an innovation in the practice procedure by declaring his intention of dividing the candidates into two groups. The new members will work out on alternate days with the veterans scheduled for three workouts a week.

Coach Kias explained several of the proposed changes and outlined a course of conditioning to the squad members. Co-captains Tommy Maines and Bill Meagher headed the group of vets numbering 35. The names of the squad members present follow: John McCullough, Jack Rice, Jesse Caprotti, Bill Studer, Tommy Maines, Johnny Ennis, Bill Darling, Bill O'Brien, Ray Simon, Willie Walker, Robert Halstein, Andy Murphy, William Cole, Ed Friedman, Billy Powers, Jackie Halstein, Ray Schneider, Gene Wilren, John Leahy, Jay DeWitt, Clint Lawson, Dick Decker, Mario Goffred, Bill Meagher, Joe Clark, Irv Rose, Frank Stauble, Don Lane, Jack Cook, Charley Kenner, Jimmy Ashdown, Vince Stoll, Bill Von Essen, Ray Van Buren and "Lefty Joe" Garland.

Sutherland's Clash Over

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—Dr. John Bain (Jack) Sutherland, Pitt's head coach of football, came back from a "good will" tour today to hear that his clash with university athletic authorities "is closed" as far as school officials are concerned.

Now we have matrimonial streamlining, with states making marriage and divorce as easy as possible, and preachers and lawyers sharing the benefits.

Talk among fight fans indicating a record turnout at the Mayor's Industrial Committee bouts Friday night, plans have been made for a new seating arrangement at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

There will be 400 extra seats, elevated on platforms, for sale at a nominal price, and this is expected to eliminate the standing forced by a lack of seats at previous bouts.

The chair seats, as stated in an advertisement on the sport page, are priced between the reserves and bleachers and expectations are that many will use these Friday for the card of seven star bouts, the feature of which will bring together Irish Leo Kelly of Albany and Indian Jones of Middletown.

This five rounder is expected to contain more fireworks than any match ever put on at the auditorium, both boys being hard punchers, and shifty boxers. Kelly recently beat Johnny Blieski, Scotch heavyweight, in a sensational battle at Albany and is the favorite for Friday.

"I don't care what he did to Blieski," said Babe Lancaster, pro boxer who trains Jones. "My boy will give him plenty of trouble. I think he can beat him. No matter who wins, the fight will be a honey because neither Jones nor Kelly know anything about quitting."

"Kelly is the best middleweight we've discovered so far in the Adirondack A. A. U.," says Ben M. Becker, boxing director, who assigned the Irishman to box in Kingston.

In addition to the Kelly-Jones wrangle, there are three other five rounders: Eddie Steele, 150, Poughkeepsie, vs. Stanley Grahams, 150, Middletown; Charlie Carpio, 175, Kingston, vs. Jimmy Lee, 175, Schenectady, and Kid Chappie, 122, Schenectady, vs. Mario Severino, 120, Schenectady.

Tommy Zano, sensational Glasco boxer, will clash with Denny Richlin, 157, Schenectady, in a three rounder. Other matches of the same duration are Joe Triola, 135, Albany, vs. Charlie Seifits, 134, Poughkeepsie, and Joe Tantillo, 125, Highland, vs. Joe Turck, 128, Kingston. Orders for reserved seats are being accepted at the Municipal Auditorium, 3718. Those desiring good ones are advised to 'phone early.

Caviar Roe of Sturgeon

Caviar is the roe of the sturgeon. The fish has a long snout with which it roots in the mud for worms. It is notable for its bony armor. It ascends rivers to lay its eggs and seems to prefer the Volga, in Russia. The eggs are gathered up and shipped to all parts of the world. During the reign of England's Edward II the sturgeon was declared a royal fish and has so remained.

—and Thank You Very Much!"

How much do YOU think these groceries cost? Study the picture and then write your answer in the blank space above.

CORN flakes, crackers, pickles and corn.
Bread, cabbage, bananas and grapefruit. And probably a pound of new potatoes already in the bag. An average bunch of groceries. What do you think they should come to? What should you pay for them? Try a guess. The chances are you will be wrong!

Your estimate will be at least 10% too high . . . unless you've been in the habit of doing your food shopping through the ads in The Daily Freeman. Which means simply this! If you are not a Daily Freeman ad-shopper you have been spending too much. Actually paying too much to live!
Or, to put it another way, if you do read the Daily Freeman food ads regularly before you buy you are getting a dollar's worth of groceries for about ninety cents! And remember, this is figuring your average savings over a long period of time. Individual savings on single purchases may and do run much higher.

Item for item, prices on standard-quality foods offered by Daily Freeman advertisers are always lower than the prices asked for the same foods in less progressive stores. This is no guess . . . no wild statement . . . no hokum . . . it has been proved and attested to many times by shoppers themselves—hundreds of them; They know it pays to read the ads.

But buying for less money is only half the story. You get better food for that money by shopping the ads. You are sure of fresher goods, higher quality. Most merchants know it doesn't pay to advertise an inferior article. It's too dangerous, it ruins good-will and hurts business.

Shop through The Daily Freeman ads every day! It pays your merchant to run them. It will pay you even more to read them.
